

ADVISORY COUNCIL ON HISTORIC PRESERVATION

2022 STRATEGIC PLAN

The Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP), an independent federal agency, is charged with the mission to promote the preservation of the nation’s diverse historic resources. The ACHP advises the President and Congress on national historic preservation policy and also provides a public forum for stakeholders and the public to influence federal agency decisions regarding federal projects and programs that affect historic properties.

The ACHP promotes the importance of historic preservation to foster an understanding of the nation’s heritage and the contribution that historic preservation can make to contemporary communities, along with their economic and social well-being. This Strategic Plan sets forth how and why the ACHP undertakes these activities by highlighting the agency’s duties and authorities, its mission and vision, and its strategic goals and objectives.

This commitment to both efficiency and inclusion is central to each of the plan's five "pillars."

DUTIES AND AUTHORITIES

National Historic Preservation Act

The ACHP was created by the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA) of 1966, which sets forth most of the ACHP's duties and authorities. Passage of the NHPA was a watershed event that launched a transformation of the federal government from an agent of indifference—frequently responsible for needless loss of historic resources—to a facilitator, an agent of thoughtful change, and a responsible steward of historic properties for future generations.

The ACHP, created by the NHPA, is the only federal agency whose sole mission is promoting the preservation of the nation's diverse historic resources. ACHP members and partners enhance this charge.

The NHPA includes a series of congressional findings setting forth why historic preservation is important to the nation. Of these, the following are particularly important foundational concepts for the work of the ACHP. (Sec. 1 PL 89-665, amended PL 96-515)

The spirit and direction of the Nation are founded upon and reflected in its historic heritage.

The historical and cultural foundations of the Nation should be preserved as a living part of our community life and development in order to give a sense of orientation to the American people.

The preservation of this irreplaceable heritage is in the public interest so that its vital legacy of cultural, educational, aesthetic, inspirational, economic, and energy benefits will be maintained and enriched for future generations of Americans.

The increased knowledge of our historic resources, the establishment of better means of identifying and administering them, and the encouragement of their preservation will improve the planning and execution of federal and federally assisted projects and will assist economic growth and development.

In keeping with these concepts, the ACHP is responsible for overseeing the federal historic preservation review process established by Section 106 of the NHPA (now codified as 54 U.S.C. 306108). Section 106 requires federal agencies to consider the effects of federal projects on historic properties and to provide the ACHP an opportunity to weigh in on project impacts. Section 106 states:

The head of any Federal agency having direct or indirect jurisdiction over a proposed Federal or federally assisted undertaking in any State and the head of any Federal department or independent agency having authority to license any undertaking, prior to the approval of the expenditure of any Federal funds on the undertaking or prior to the issuance of any license, shall take into account the effect of the undertaking on any historic property. The head of the Federal agency shall afford the [ACHP] a reasonable opportunity to comment with regard to the undertaking.

Based on authority granted by the NHPA, the ACHP has issued regulations (36 CFR Part 800) that spell out how agencies should meet their Section 106 responsibilities efficiently and effectively while giving due consideration to the historic places that communities value. Administering application of the Section 106 review process is a major ACHP responsibility and, as such, is the focus of one of the ACHP's Strategic Goals.

More duties of the ACHP as spelled out in the NHPA are outlined below. This plan's Strategic Goals and Strategic Objectives specifically address many of the following (54 U.S.C. 304102):

Advise the President and Congress on matters relating to historic preservation, recommend measures to coordinate activities of federal, state, and local agencies and private institutions and individuals related to historic preservation, and advise on the dissemination of information pertaining to those activities.

Encourage (with partners) public interest and participation in historic preservation.

Recommend the conduct of studies in such areas as:

(a) the adequacy of legislative and administrative statutes and regulations pertaining to historic preservation activities of state and local governments, and

(b) the effects of tax policies at all levels of government on historic preservation.

Advise as to guidelines for the assistance of state and local governments in drafting legislation relating to historic preservation.

Encourage (in cooperation with public and private agencies and institutions) training and education in the field of historic preservation.

Review the policies and programs of federal agencies and recommend to federal agencies methods to improve the effectiveness, coordination, and consistency of those policies and programs with the policies and programs carried out under this division.

Inform and educate federal agencies, state and local governments, Indian tribes, other national and international organizations and private groups and individuals to the ACHP's authorized activities.

Federal Permitting Improvement Steering Council

The Fixing America's Surface Transportation Act of 2015 created the Federal Permitting Improvement Steering Council (Permitting Council) to promote more efficient and effective federal permitting for infrastructure projects. The Permitting Council was made a permanent federal agency in 2021 by the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act. The ACHP is a member of the Permitting Council and fulfills its duty to advance Permitting Council goals by developing and promoting efficiencies in the Section 106 review process and collaborating with other member agencies to improve federal permitting processes for infrastructure projects. The importance of addressing infrastructure needs is referenced at several points in this plan's Strategic Objectives.

PROGRAM AREAS

The ACHP's major program areas are reflected in its organizational structure:

The Federal Agency Programs office administers the NHPA's Section 106 review process to promote efficient federal project planning that gives due consideration to the historic places that communities value. It works with federal agencies to improve how they incorporate historic preservation considerations into their programs and procedures and their responsibilities under the NHPA. The office manages the ACHP's extensive training program to instruct a diverse range of participants in the Section 106 review process, reaching both federal and non-federal stakeholders.

The Preservation Initiatives office undertakes research and development of policies to promote the benefits of historic preservation for advancing economic development, community revitalization, climate resilience, and other public goals. The office analyzes congressional legislation and government policies and programs to support the efforts of the ACHP membership to further the purposes of the NHPA. It also manages the ACHP's intern program.

Executive Order 13287

Executive Order (EO) 13287, "Preserve America," directs federal agencies to manage federal historic properties as valuable assets that can support agency missions and also stimulate local economic development. Section 3 of EO 13287 requires that agencies with real property management responsibilities report every three years on progress in their identification, protection, and use of historic properties. The EO requires the ACHP to incorporate the data from these reports into a triennial report to the President on the state of the federal government's historic properties and their contribution to local economic development.

The Communications, Education, and Outreach office conveys the ACHP's vision and message to constituents and the general public through information and education programs, as well as public recognition programs for historic preservation achievement. The office has lead responsibility for ACHP efforts to expand public appreciation for historic preservation, promote the engagement of youth and diverse communities in the national preservation program, and advance education and training in preservation crafts and skills.

The Native American Affairs office addresses program and policy matters related to issues of concern to Indian tribes and Native Hawaiian organizations (NHOs). It provides a wide range of guidance, information, training, and technical assistance to federal agencies and other participants to promote early and effective consultation and engagement with Indian tribes and NHOs in the Section 106 review process.

The ACHP's strategic plan will guide the work of these offices as they carry out the ACHP's mission in the coming years, enabling it to fulfill its role as a leader in the national historic preservation program.
